

Why Can't You See Their Eyes

by Leslie C. Latour ©2005

Listen here O gracious one's Who throw to them your tokens
Can't you see the pain in them?
Their spirit's have been broken

You have to hold a starving child
Or watch a sick one die
Don't turn away they're part of you
Why can't you see their eyes?

Take a walk through places that your ego's known to fear Nothing gained from wealth and fame
With people starving here

Take a moment, hear their voice
It's time you realize
The pain you see reflects on you
Why can't you see their eyes?

(chorus)
Don't you know
This world isn't yours alone
Don't you know
They've tried to make it on their own

Don't You Know (4x)

Don't you know that greed will keep you from the gates of peace?
Until you share with those in need
You'll never find release

You have to hold a starving child
Or watch a sick one die
Don't turn away they're part of you
Just look into their eyes

(chorus)
Don't you know
This world isn't yours alone
Don't you know
They've tried to make it on their
own

Don't You Know (4x)
